

BOLIVIAN BORDER WAR NEAR

JURY TO GET GARSIDE CASE TOMORROW

THREE TESTIFY FOR STATE IN NEW WATERFORD AUTO FATALITY

Jury Visits Scene of
F. W. Ferguson's
Death.

VICTIM BURNED

Defendant Will Take
Stand at Lisbon,
Friday.

Edward C. Garside, 50, East Palestine mail carrier and auto mobile dealer, on trial in common pleas court at Lisbon on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of F. W.
Ferguson, 58, New Waterford
general storekeeper, in an automobile crash on the New Waterford-Columbiana road, last May 26, probably will know his fate tomorrow night.

First Witnesses Called.
First testimony was given today when Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beck, near whose home the collision occurred, and Ishmel Beck, Cincinnati, a brother of Frank Beck, who was visiting at the Beck home, were on the witness stand.

Mrs. Elizabeth Beck testified that Ferguson had driven she and her husband home from New Waterford, where they had been shopping, and as she was on her way into the house
she heard a crash and saw a flash on the road at a point where a ditch way leading from the Beck home joins the main road. She said that she hurried to the scene of the wreck, finding Ferguson being pinned behind the steering wheel of his car which was overturned in a ditch.

Defendant to Take Stand.
Frank Beck, her husband, and Ish-mel Beck, her brother-in-law, offered similar testimony.
The prosecution is not expected to rest until late this afternoon. Garside probably will take the stand in his own defense tomorrow.

The jury visited the scene of the collision yesterday afternoon.
Garside, the state charges, was operating his automobile in a reckless manner at the time of the crash, Fer-guson's death which occurred in the Central clinic at Salem, on the day following the accident, was due to burns which he suffered when his automobile took fire after the wreck.

DEEP sorrow in Britain. The King seems to have no chance of recovery.
His oldest son, coming in haste from his work for the Empire in Africa, arrived in time to see his father alive.

THE world's sympathy is with the British people, and with King George,
a good father, a good husband, wise
king, good citizen of the British Empire, obedient to law, devoted to his duty.

THERE have been greater kings,
like Henry VIII; more spectacular kings, like Richard the Lion-Hearted;
more constructive kings, perhaps, like Alfred the Great or William the Conqueror, who brought French system into the British Islands. But there has never been a BETTER king.

WHEN it was suggested, long ago,
that big apartment houses should contain many families, with one central heating plant, and water supply, there was a conservative hubbub. "You are trying to break up the American family. That family will always live in its own separate house under its own roof."

Nevertheless, big apartment houses were built.
NOW it is suggested that millions of women, tied to cooking stoves,
should be set free from that drudgery.
Community kitchens, cooking food properly, carefully, scientifically, would deliver food at the homes.
A good suggestion. It would enable women to use their brains for thinking, instead of working.

THE idea isn't entirely new. Those engaged in manufacturing prepared foods, breakfast foods, soups, pre-

Liberated.

PAROLE URGED

Broke Into Garage to Regain Possession of Own Auto.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13.—Complying with various recommendations for clemency, Governor Vic Donahey today liberated John Donnelly, Salem, from the Ohio penitentiary. Donnelly was convicted at Lisbon last May of burglary and was sentenced to serve from one to 15 years in the big state prison.

His release was recommended by the trial judge and prosecutor and by
B. F. McDonald, state prohibition commissioner.

The governor was told that Donnelly, after being arrested on a charge of driving his automobile while intoxicated, broke into a garage at Leostonia and regained possession of his car which had been taken from him by the arresting officer.
The policeman, it was stated, had permitted Donnelly to go home after the arrest.

ran away and crashed into a westbound Cleveland & Pittsburgh freight train in south Walnut street last night.

KING GEORGE HOLDS HIS OWN, ROYAL DOCTORS' BULLETIN SAYS

British Ruler Has Some Sleep During Night.

PULSE STEADY

Feeling of Hope and Optimism Prevails
in Palace.

LONDON, Dec. 13.—It was officially stated at Buckingham palace at 3 o'clock this afternoon that King
George was making progress.

The bulletin stated that the king
had had some sleep during the night, that his pulse was steady, and that he
"was not losing ground."

"The king had some sleep during the night. The local condition is satisfactory. Despite weakness and considerable toxemia, his majesty's pulse remains steady and he is not losing ground," the bulletin said.

The bulletin was signed by Sir Stanley Hewett, Sir Hugh Rigby and Lord Dawson of Penn.

Two Sons Enroute Home.
A feeling of hope and optimism prevails in the royal household, it was stated.

The hope uppermost throughout England today was that Sir Hugh Rig-by's operation upon the king for empyema after his lung had been probed and some infectious matter withdrawn earlier in the day, would result in his majesty's ultimate recovery.

Two of the king's sons are still miles away from their father's bedside. The Duke of Gloucester is enroute to England from Capetown, South Africa, aboard the steamer Balmoral Castle.

The youngest son, Prince George,
is aboard the H. M. S. Durban bound for New York where he will board the Cunarder Benneria for home when it sails at midnight tomorrow.

Wales Visits Palace.
The Prince of Wales visited the palace today to talk with the doctors.
He later took lunch with his mother,
Queen Mary.

It was learned that the Prince's future plans are uncertain. He will remain in London indefinitely, undertaking no public engagements in the meantime.

The anxiety of the prince over his father's condition is reflected in his grave demeanor and the lines of care in his face. However, he remains cheerful and attempts to cheer up his mother, his sister and brothers by his own animation.

Plan Record Sea Trip.
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Prince George, rushing here from Bermuda will travel to England to the bedside of his royal father at record speed, officials of the Cunard line announced today. The company's liner, Berengaria, which will leave New York with the prince aboard tomorrow night will maintain a full speed of 23 knots an hour all the way across the Atlantic.

The prince will transfer from H. M.
S. Durban, which is carrying him,

GUESS WHO'LL GET THESE LETTERS

From one Richmond, Va., schoolroom alone came these youngsters to mail their special delivery letters to general Kris Kringle. The sudden rush to mail must have been brought about by realization that there aren't many days left in which to get in their requests. Notice the healthy "boost" which No. 1 in the queue is receiving.

YOUNG AMNESIA VICTIM FOUND BY HIS MOTHER

Syracuse University Student Identified in Columbus.

MEMORY RETURNS
Kendall B. Hussard
Had Wandered for Nine Days.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13.—"Mother."
With this heart-wrenching cry, Kendall
Bradley Hussard, 21, of Albany, N. Y., amnesia victim who has been wandering through the south and middle west for nine days, today clasped in his arms Mrs. Beulah J.
Sica, of Albany, who came here to identify him.

After a touching reunion in which tears of happiness put to flight fears and apprehension, the young Syracuse university student's memories came flooding back to him. His mother ordered the youth put to bed under a physician's care and said she would leave late today for her home in Albany.

Visited Wheeling, W. Va.
The identification was made in the offices of a private detective agency.
An operative of the agency was approached by Hussard on the street Monday. Hussard told the detective he did not know his name or where he came from and had only a vague recollection of having his ticket punched on a train at Pittsburgh last Thursday.

When he "awoke" at Pittsburgh his mind was an utter blank, he said, and he wandered from Pittsburgh to Wheeling, W. Va., and thence to Columbus, seeking familiar sights or faces.

His Sole Baggage Was Soiled Shirt.
His sole baggage, on arriving here, consisted of a soiled shirt wrapped in a newspaper. The probability that he was suffering from amnesia took root in his mind, and he had gone to the Carnegie library here in an effort to solve his difficulties unaided by percusing books on insanity and amnesia.

First clues as to his identity were disclosed by firm labels on his clothing. His hat bore the name of a Buffalo haberdashery, his overcoat
the label of a Baltimore clothing house and his suit that of a Syracuse outfitter.

TROOPS MASSED ON FRONTIER. PARAGUAY SAYS IN TWO NOTES

Secretary of State Kellogg Advised of Situation.

LEAGUE TO ACT

Lapaz Government Will Answer Appeal to Arbitrate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—
Because of alleged provocative measures by Bolivia, war is imminent between Paraguay and Bolivia.

This was the gist today of identical notes from the Paraguayan government which were delivered by the charge d'affaires, Juan Ramirez, to Secretary of State Kellogg and to Victor M. Maurtua, Peruvian minister, who is chairman of the Pan-American conference's special mediation committee.

Private Dispatches to Kellogg.
The notes reiterated charges that Bolivia is massing troops and war supplies on the frontier.

Private dispatches to Secretary Kellogg, however, did not indicate such a grave situation as described by Ramirez. There is no evidence, Kellogg said, that Bolivia is mobilizing large number of troops.

The Paraguayan notes said Bolivia is concentrating armed forces at Ft.
Yanguarua, from which Bolivian soldiers were driven by Paraguayan forces last week. War supplies are also being centered near Bahai Nerra, the port of Paraguay on the Paraguayan river, it was declared.

Diez De Medina, Bolivian minister, has received no information from his government on the Paraguayan charges, but he added it is reasonable to suppose that Bolivia is taking all necessary precautionary measures.

Paraguay Willing to Arbitrate.
LUGANO, Switzerland, Dec. 13.—
Paraguay today informed the league of nations council that the Paraguayan government is willing to arbitrate the frontier dispute with Bolivia.

One communication already has been received from Bolivia setting forth the Bolivian governments position in the boundary controversy, but it is expected that another message will be received shortly.

The Paraguayan note, which was an answer to the message sent by French Foreign Minister Briand in behalf of the league of nations, said in part:
"We are willing to accept arbitration and conciliation, but Bolivia is not inclined to do so."

In his message, M. Briand pointed out to the two South American republics their peaceful obligations under the league of nations covenant.
Both are members of the league, but neither has a seat upon the council, which is now meeting here.

Announcement was made that Bolivia has notified the council that the Lapaz government will reply very soon to the Briand communication.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec.
13.—President-elect Hoover and the others of his "good-will" party today were speeding across the vast expanse of the Argentine Pampas aboard a special government train which is scheduled to arrive here at 6 o'clock tonight—(4:00 p. m., E. S. T.).

The Hoover party arrived at Mendoza, the first large Argentine town east of the Chilean border, at 7 o'clock last night. The party changed trains there and forty-five minutes later the government train had started its long journey to Santa city.
American Ambassador Robert W.
Bliss and several Argentine officials who met the Hoover party at the Chilean border, are also aboard the train.

Mr. Hoover was travelling today under conditions vastly different from those encountered yesterday. Most of the trip today was under a tropical sun beating down on the pampas in sharp contrast to the cold and snow met with in crossing the Andes.

The police here have taken every precaution to insure Mr. Hoover's safety during his stay here. All persons suspected of anarchistic or anti-American views have been rounded up or are under strict surveillance.

SEES 1929 AS
BANNER YEAR

Woolworth Chief Predicts Boom in Industry.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—I believe that 1929 will be a banner year both in industry and in retail selling, said H. T. Parson, president of the F. W. Woolworth company today.

As head of the Woolworth chain of 1,723 stores, situated in strategic positions in the retail centers of the country, Parson is admirably situated to estimate accurately the buying power of the American people. Last year the Woolworth stores sold $272,000,000 worth of goods at retail, and in the current year they are expected to pass over their counters a total of $282,000,000, retail prices.

"From every standpoint, I am confident that we are in for a good business year directly ahead," said Parson. When asked to summarize his reasons for arriving at that conclusion, he said:

"First and foremost, because of the high rate of earnings of industry and business this year. The crops of 1928 were good, and marketed at better prices than before, which will mean that that money carries over into 1929 to stimulate business.

Part of the funds for road improvements in Italy is to be raised through the tax on bachelors.

Santa Claus On Job

Christmas will be merry for every needy adult and child in the East Liverpool district if church societies, Elks' lodge, American Legion and the Salvation Army are given the co-operation they deserve in holiday relief programs.
Treats and special programs are planned by Sunday schools, Bible classes and other religious units; the Salvation Army will distribute baskets of food to 300 families in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Chester, Newell and Smith's Ferry, and the Elks and Legionnaires are arranging for other works of charity.
The Elks today began to list the names of district children who, in the ordinary course of events, would be overlooked by Santa Claus. Probably 1,000 boys and girls will be guests of the lodge. They will attend a theater on Christmas morning, and then go to the Elks' temple where gifts of candy, stockings and toys will be distributed.
Former service men identified with the American Legion will essay the Kris Kingle role for children of the McCullough-Jefferson County home near Yellow Creek.
And, too, other organizations will bring gladness into homes which are not listed by the Salvation Army, Elks and Legion.
Thus Christmas is for both the rich and poor in America.

Savings Deposits

Statistics given out by W. Espey Albig, deputy manager of the American Bankers' association in charge of the savings bank division, show that, at the close of the fiscal year ended June 30, savings deposits in the banks of the United States had reached the amazing total of $28,400,000,000, which represented the savings of 53,000,000 individual depositors. This total, the deputy points out, is the greatest gain for a year ever recorded, but three of all the states of the union failing to show increased deposits.
The increase to the inhabitant in the fiscal year of 1928 over 1927 was $17, which represents a gain of 7.7 per cent. over 1927 and 113.5 per cent. over 1918, in which the decided upward trend in savings deposits was first manifested. Since 1912, in which adequate records first became available, the gain to the inhabitant has been 169.3 per cent.
These figures, says Albig, indicate prosperity more general than at any time since the business depression of 1920.
The cost of the World war was fearful, the cost in life and blood, and the cost of property wasted or destroyed. The war was responsible for many of the ills, but in at least one respect it proved of benefit in that through it and by reason of it we learned how to save. We economized in our living expenses; some of us, because we had to do so to make both ends meet. It thus taught us economy and the buying of stamps and certificates and bonds inculcated in us the gospel of thrift. Many who had never saved before, discovered how easy it was to save. They were converted to the saving idea, and when there was no longer occasion to buy securities of the government to enable it to carry on its war activities, the lesson had become so well learned that our people kept on saving for the sake of saving, having been brought, as they never had been before, to realization of the great benefits to be gained through thrift.
The savings habit thus acquired has grown and developed with the passing years, the ability to save having been augmented by improved economic conditions. Meanwhile, the interest derived from the savings became a factor in augmenting the total with the result that, at the end of ten years, we have a condition here in the United States without a parallel in the history of the world.

Cost Of Building

Complete returns covering building operations for 1927 have been analyzed by the department of labor. Secretary James J. Davis states that reports were received from 302 cities showing operations costing $3,593,839,405. Of this amount, $1,961,899,520 was for new residential buildings, $1,278,541,065 for new non-residential buildings, and $353,393,271 for repairs to old buildings.
These cities had a population of 43,919,581 on July 1, 1927, according to an estimate of the bureau of the census. Accommodations were provided in new structures in these cities for 418,873 families, or at the rate of 95.4 families to each 10,000 population. The per capita expenditure for all building operations was $81.83.
Reports of building permits issued have been received from 257 identical cities for each year from 1921 to 1927, inclusive. In 1921 dwelling places were provided in new buildings for 224,545 families. Of this number 58.3 per cent were housed in one-family dwellings compared with 24.4 per cent in apartment houses. The remaining 17.3 per cent were housed in two-family dwellings.
During 1927, however, 48.3 per cent of the families were provided for in new apartment houses and only 38.3 per cent in single-family dwellings.
While the expenditure for new buildings of all kinds in these 257 cities was 17.6 per cent lower than the amount spent during 1925, the peak year of building construction, it was 99.5 per cent more than the 1921 expenditure. The expenditure for residential building in these cities was 102.3 per cent more than in 1921 and for non-residential building was 93.7 per cent greater than 1921.
The population of these 257 cities had increased 15 per cent during the same period.
In 1921 the average cost of the one-family dwellings for which permits were issued in these 257 cities was $3,972 while in 1927 it was $4,830, an increase of 21.6 per cent. The average cost per family unit of apartment houses had risen in the same period from $4,019 to $4,170, an increase of only 3.8 per cent. These cost figures apply to the building only. The cost of the land is not included.
Oxford educators have reached the conclusion that longevity is not an achievement but an accident, but it will help some just the same to keep out of one.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13.—The struggle for farm relief legislation at the present session of congress promises to be neatly complicated by injection of the tariff issue. As a substitute for the equalization fee provision, embodied in the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, twice vetoed by President Coolidge, President-elect Hoover has suggested higher tariff protection for the farmers' products. It must not be taken for granted that the fight for the equalization fee is dead. Senator Brookhart and Representative Dickinson, both Iowa farm block leaders, have promised to keep it alive. Their position, however, is too weak to do more than make for delayed action.
President Coolidge has maintained his position that farm relief may best come through better cooperative marketing and he has also made it clear that he is strongly opposed to tinkering with the tariff. So here are all the elements of an impasse. "A constant revision of the tariff by the congress is disturbing and harmful" according to the president's own words. He believes that the flexible provisions of the Farnley-McCumber tariff law of 1922 are adequate to take care of needed shifts in rates without reopening legislatively the whole wide field of tariff adjustment.
At the last session the senate adopted a resolution favoring downward revision of the tariff and the current Republican platform pledged an upward revision on agricultural products. And recently the National Grange, a nationwide farmers' organization, launched a movement for legislation to pay farmers a bounty on exports of farm products equal to the tariff charged on imports of farm products. This is creeping back toward the substitution theory of the equalization fee.
The whole picture is one calculated to inspire a firm belief that farm relief will have no smooth pathway this winter and that, with nothing accomplished by March 4, it will be necessary for Mr. Hoover to call an extra session.
Recent tariff history encourages belief that, whether connected or not with farm relief, a general tariff revision is due. Such revision usually is the first thing which follows a change of administration from control of one major party to that of the other. When the Republicans returned after eight years of Democratic ascendancy under Woodrow Wilson an exception was to be noted. They did immediately enact the farmer's emergency tariff within less than three months after President Harding's inauguration but it was not until the fall of 1922 that a general tariff bill was passed, the Farnley-McCumber measure which still is in effect. It was that measure which set up the machinery for the flexible tariff and many changes have been made in consequence thereof.
It is interesting to note that for nearly half a century the average life of a tariff bill has been six and a half years. The Farnley-McCumber measure already has exceeded that life span by a full year. If there is anything in history repeating itself it would appear that a general revision is due. But this would not be possible at the short session. Those in favor of general revision would be inclined to filibuster against imperative measures to make the calling of an extra session a national requirement.
The last session of congress enacted a law contemplating a flood control program calling for the expenditure of $325,000,000 as a result of the Mississippi river disaster. Twenty-four million dollars was appropriated for immediate availability. It is expected that congress will have to take up this matter again and make available an additional $30,000,000 and also consider flood control measures in Florida to minimize recurrence of the inundations which took place last September.
There is an extensive program before congress in connection with public improvements. A $50,000,000 dollar appropriation for rivers and harbors died with the last session and can be depended upon for a resurrection. Some interests want the channels between the Great Lakes deepened, some want the Mississippi river deepened, the St. Lawrence Waterway remains a hardy perennial, and almost four out of five citizens are demanding creek months transformed into harbors, post offices at crossroads, and federal buildings of monumental proportions in hamlets.
The public roads demands seem to have lightened to a considerable degree but a $197,000,000 reclamation proposal for the Columbia Basin is on tap.
In the field of labor congress will be called upon to consider the injunction situation. Labor unions are incensed at the employment of the court injunction to forestall strikes and legislation is pending to limit the injunction powers. Bills pending relating to the better gathering of unemployment statistics and the study of causes of unemployment. Also there are proposals to establish a reserve fund to be used for postponed public improvements to give employment in hard times. Immigration legislation with special reference to national origins is on the cards.
The Vestris disaster almost certainly will attract congressional attention and will provoke a flood of bills fortifying steamship inspection rules and regulations relating to safety of life at sea. Invalidation of the Sinclair contract with the government for handling the output of the Salt Creek field by an opinion of the attorney general will provide an opening for inquiry.

Questions And Answers

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Q. Do carpets and rugs in a choir loft reduce the reverberation of sound? D. R. B.
A. The Bureau of Standards says that carpets and rugs absorb sound and have the effect of reducing the reverberation time of a room. The area of the floor covering in a choir loft of average size would hardly be large enough to have any deadening effect upon the reverberation in the church as a whole. Musicians generally prefer to have their immediate surroundings bare and reverberant.
Q. Does buttermilk contain enough alcohol to exceed the limit set by the Volstead Act? C. R. L.
A. Dr. Harvey Wiley says: "It is not necessary that buttermilk should contain any alcohol at all. Fermentation of milk to produce buttermilk contains no alcohol at all. However, if it does contain a trace it certainly could not possibly exceed the limit of one-half of one per cent as fixed by the Volstead Act."
Q. In entertaining friends at a six o'clock dinner, is it correct to use bread and butter plates? L. C. E.
A. Bread and butter plates are used at informal or formal dinners. At the most formal of dinners, bread and butter plates are not placed because there is no butter served. However, except upon rare occasions, bread and butter plates are being placed at dinner.
Q. What states have the largest consolidated schools? H. J.
A. Among the states which have the largest consolidated schools are Indiana, Mississippi, and Ohio.
Q. Which sex of the glow worm gives light? L. R. A.
A. The department of agriculture says that both sexes of the glow worm give light, and that light is also found in the larvae of some species.

A Lesson in Geography.
If it does nothing else, the Hoover trip, by the time it is ended, will have given North America a lesson in the geography of Central and South America. It has been our custom, Will Irwin, one of the correspondents aboard the Maryland points out, to lump all of the peoples south of us together as Latin Americans. Such ignorance, he adds, is somewhat resented by them. It is as if, in a sense, all English-speaking countries, our own included, were characterized as English, politically as well as racially. As a matter of fact, there are a score of distinct peoples between the Rio Grande and Cape Horn. For the most part, to be sure, they speak the Spanish language and have with one or two exceptions, a common origin, but that does not make them one. We have only to remember the long series of wars in Central and South America to recognize how intensely nationalistic and patriotic the peoples there are. A number of them, it is worth recalling, have colonial histories older than the one we pride ourselves on—Ohio State Journal.

Once Overs

Don't Wear Out Your Welcome.
Are you sure that you do not carry it too far, this dropping in at the home of a friend?
You think the hospitable way that you are received is evidence of welcome.
It may be courteous desire not to offend, more than pleasure, that you are considering as a welcome.
It is easy to wear out a real welcome if you go too often anywhere.
There are times when families prefer to be alone.
They cannot do as they please with outsiders constantly around.
It is also inconsiderate to keep running in when there are callers or guests unless you are especially asked.
It is most annoying to have guests and not be able to say anything personal to them because of a third and supposedly disinterested person present.
Look back a few weeks and think how many times you have intruded.
Not always in the same place but many times you have dropped in here or there and remained longer than the outsiders you found there.
Do these people upon whom you call so often come to your home as many times and as informally?
That is a question you should ask yourself.

Ritzy Rosalie

The lace mitten of long ago was the inspiration for Rosalie's short mesh pull-on gloves. They are for wear with the cocktail jacket costume or lace frock and have an all-over pattern in the lace instead of the usual embroidery. The slightest flared cuff has a scalloped border. Rosalie's gloves are black cotton flit but white or champagne may be had.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Manhattan's home going rush, long a delirium of utter confusion, is growing worse. New Yorkers are accustomed to the diurnal flurry but for the stranger there is a never forgotten spectacle in the swift rush, clang and claxoning madness.
The Big Push is between 5 and 6 and at no time does the city seem so terrifying. In crowded centers it becomes a stampede with life and disaster separated by a hair's breadth. More than two million people leave the city nightly for the suburbs.
The heaviest stream of pedestrian traffic is across 42nd street where commuters fairly dog trot along to catch trains. It requires ten traffic cops to keep them moving at 42nd street and Fifth avenue, the pivotal point of congestion when the rush is on.
Times Square, Brooklyn Bridge, Fourteenth street and Grand Central are the high spots of underground jams. The subway kiosks, swallow millions like human gophers scurrying into their holes. Then there are the meletes at ferries, on elevated platforms and in the tubes.
That this traffic task is performed in an hour is one of the city's miracles. The dead calm and desolation on New York streets between 7 and 8, before the night crowds begin moving, is almost a touch of the supernatural. The most striking illustration of tranquility is in Wall street.
After sundown the only show of the fast and furious life of the day are the geysers of steam from the street gratings and the sprinkling of lonely night watchmen guarding the nation's hoard of gold. To all appearances Wall street becomes a completely abandoned area.
In spite of the rush hour tautness, there is a communal consideration and friendliness among galloping city folk. The lame, halt and blind always find help at their elbows. There is time to pitch coins into beggars tin cups and to exchange greetings with those people have learned to know only by sight.
There is admiration in the home-going rush among husbands, who find

YOUR HEALTH
An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

Are you taking care of your eyes? Of course, the eye troubles I have mentioned may not require glasses for their correction. Simple treatment may overcome them. Sometimes redness and stickiness of the eyes may come from catarrhal conditions of the nose. But more likely there is astigmatism or some other form of eye defect which requires correction.
If you are in the slightest doubt, consult a specialist who will test your vision. He will see if the eye muscles are in perfect balance. Perhaps there is nothing wrong, but it will be a relief to be sure about it.
Swelling of the eyelids, crusts in the morning, redness of the eyeballs and lining of the lids—all these may be overcome by getting rid of the strain. You will look better and feel better to have these unsightly defects remedied.
You must not forget that your efficiency and temper may suffer from eyestrain. If you are not working as well as you used to and are unaccountably cross and crabbed, think of your eyes. The whole trouble may center there.
You are unwise indeed to go without glasses merely because of your prejudice against them. A bias of this sort does no credit to you. To pinch your feet because you can't bear to wear the right number in shoes, or to go without glasses when they are really needed—what can we think of you?
The way to save your eyes and to make sure they are to serve you now, ways, is to care for them now.

'IT'S JESUS CHRIST OR NOTHING,' SUNDAY WARNS

"You may think you are not quite good enough to go to heaven and your viewpoint will avail you nothing for you are either saved or lost," declared Billy Sunday at the Second and Washington streets' tabernacle last night. "It is Jesus Christ or nothing. There can be no halfway ground for anybody. Christianity," he contended, "makes one happier, more useful and better in this life in addition to guaranteeing salvation for eternity."

Moved by his discourse many men and women accepted the "invitation" at its close.

Anticipating his forthcoming visit to Pittsburgh on Monday at the conclusion of the revival here on Sunday, he departed from his discussion long enough to anticipate telling some ministers not continuing to hold faith in the fundamentals of belief. "I am going to preach at noon and in the evening at McCartney's church (referring to the First Presbyterian of which Dr. Clarence Edward McCartney is the pastor and a fundamentalist) and I hope some of the sky pilots in the city will come out. I want to tell them a few things, especially those who are permitting their personal opinions to overcome the Biblical assertions on many things."

Tabernacle Crowded.

Despite the foggy, murky atmosphere which made the day and the night London-like, the auditorium was filled except in one section. Numerous delegations were in attendance.

At the conclusion of the service, Mr. Sunday hurried to the Travelers' hotel from where later he went forth to meet Mrs. Sunday who had spent the day in Zanesville. He made two trips uptown for she missed the Steubenville car on which she was at first expected.

During the night sermon he digressed long enough also to tell that he and Mrs. Sunday had been married since September, 1888. "And she is the youngest looking woman for her age you ever saw," he proudly commented, "and as an apparent afterthought he continued: 'and I am not far behind her for my age either.' His statement drew applause all over the auditorium. 'And I have been going just as you see me for 30 years,' he went on, as he continued to pound home the underlying thought of his sermon that the Scriptures were written so that those reading them may believe that Jesus is the Christ and that by His name every one may have life. His text was 1 Peter 1:15—'Be ready to give the answer that is within thee.'"

In relating an incident concerning a man named Hall he stopped to make another observation: "Every time I think of East Liverpool the names of Hall, Thompson, Knowles, Taylor, McDonald, Smith, Phillips, Schreiber and Zoellers well up," he said.

Urges Faith in Bible.
Back to the Bible and faith in its assertions he went throughout his sermon. He told of one time delaying payment on an insurance policy by having the agent pay it for him until his return to Chicago. He wrote him that he would do so. And when he went to the office to make the promised payment the office man made the observation that he had placed a good deal of faith in the insurance man and asked if he realized that the policy would have been cancelled had the representative of the company not kept his word. "If we can believe insurance men surely we ought to believe the Bible," he declared. "Some-fools are willing to believe what jockeys say, yet they will not have faith but doubt in the Bible. How ridiculous it all is."

"I could not face life without belief in the Lord Jesus Christ. And if any of my hearers could give me a deed for everything in the world I would not change it for my hope in heaven."

He announced that he would preach this afternoon on "How We Got Our Bible."

But four night services remain during the campaign.

Pittsburghers To Attend Tonight.

Among the delegations scheduled to be present tonight is one from Pittsburgh. Others from out-of-town have also indicated that they will be in attendance. "You should all be here to greet these visitors," suggested Homer Rodeheaver, the musical director.

In attendance last night was the Rev. J. D. McBride, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Leetonia, who was accompanied by his nephew, J. Hohenberger, also of Leetonia. The Rev. McBride was singled out as a school friend by the Rev. W. H. McCandless from the platform as, before the sermon, he was making a business announcement for the campaign executive committee.

Among those on the platform was Prescott Gilliland, of Columbus, long one of the active leaders of the Prohibition party in the state and one time its candidate for lieutenant governor. He attended the meeting while spending a few hours in East Liverpool.

The invocation was made by the Rev. Angelo W. Bonacci of the Faith Italian Mission of Wellsville.

At this afternoon's service it was announced that the prayer meeting attendants of the districts of East End would attend in a body.

Rodeheaver, on behalf of the Salvation Army, expressed gratitude for the old clothing and discarded material that may be used as bandages for lepers in Korea which have been turned into that organization. "There is still time before the consignment is sent across the Pacific to add to the amount on hand," he disclosed. "Children's clothing that may have become too small for those you have could be also utilized."

Dames of Malta sang "The March of Allegiance" after standing in a reserved section in the south end of the tabernacle.

The Yellow Creek Presbyterians, headed by their pastor, the Rev. K. J. Stewart, were represented by a large delegation.

Church Delegations Present.

The largest delegation present was that from the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church. When they arose, applause broke out everywhere. They requested the song, "You Can Smile," which was contributed with enthusiasm.

From the East End came another delegation, Class No. 13, of the Second Presbyterian church, taught by Edward McHenry. "You are like Woodrow Wilson in thinking that '3' is your lucky number" observed Rodeheaver as he agreed to sing for them their selected song, "Good Night Here, Good Morning Up There."

The greatest ovation of the evening was given to a delegation of members of the Second Baptist church (colored). They sang "I'm Coming Home" and were encored with enthusiasm, whereupon they responded with "Tell Them I am Coming Too." Their contributions recalled to Rodeheaver his early days in Tennessee when he was frequently a listener of the Negro spirituals which for harmony and melody he contended are without comparison. "I should see to it that these songs are carried on to your children and by them to theirs so that they will always live," he commented. And then he asked if they had ever heard a song which a Negro aunty had once sung for him on a visit to the south: "He Took My Feet From The Mirey Clay". Not getting an affirmative reply, he sang it and everyone was charmed by his happy decision. He had previously sung another Negro spiritual at the outset of the musical preliminary, "You Better Run, Spirit," accompanied by Paul Beckwith, Rodeheaver and Oliver Johnson, director of the Second Presbyterian church choir, sang: "No Disappointment in Heaven."

Mr. Sunday again reminded his hearers that he would preach four times on Sunday the concluding day of the campaign here, once in the morning at 10:30; in the afternoon twice—at 1:30 to men and 3 to men and women and in the evening at 7:30 to everybody. "And why not make it a day of fasting," he suggested, "You can get along without eating, at least not much. Eat some fruit, or cabbage raw. Raw cabbage and raw turnips will hurt nobody. Cooked cabbage might. So let us all get together so that all wishing to do so may be accommodated at some of these services."

Night Sermon.

"Do you believe in Christ?" That is the important thing for every man and woman to know. On that knowledge hangs your eternal destiny," asserted Mr. Sunday last night.

"Many people go in for wealth, fame and personal charm but all these will avail nothing in the final analysis."

He showed how all of the leaders at the peace conference following the World war had long been out of power. He depicted Lady Hamilton who had a kingdom at her feet passing out in squalor.

POLICE SEIZE "ARSENAL" IN NEW YORK RAID

Eight Men Arrested in Slain Beer Runner's Place.

HOLDUP ANGLE Prisoners Quizzed in Yonkers Bank Truck Robbery.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Police early today raided an alleged speakeasy in the Bronx formerly owned by Joseph Noe, slain beer runner, arrested eight men and confiscated enough arms and ammunition to stock an arsenal. Six pistols, 500 rounds of shotgun ammunition, 1,500 rounds of revolver ammunition, three bullet-proof vests and a loaded Thompson machine gun were found in the place.

Noe was slain in a pistol duel just off Broadway Oct. 15.

Sawed-off shotguns were used by the seven or eight bandits who held up a bank truck in Yonkers, a suburb, yesterday, wounded two men and fled toward New York with $104,500 in cash. Police were questioning the eight men arrested this morning in an effort to connect them with yesterday's sensational holdup.

FATE OF NURSE IN JURY'S HANDS

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The fate of Marjorie May, French war bride accused of killing Andrew Devola, her lover, was placed in the hands of a jury today.

The French nurse, wife of a disabled war veteran, has vigorously denied the accusation, claiming Devola a suicide, but the state has asked the death penalty.

Boost Wilmington Police Pay.

WILMINGTON, O., Dec. 13.—Police officers of Wilmington have been granted an increase in pay amounting to $20 a month by council. It was announced here today. The raise is effective as of Dec. 1, last.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—A flurry in the stock market this morning carried prices of many of the market leaders down to the lowest price level of the month, wiping out most of the effects of the rally which followed last Saturday's break. The market was excited and nervous over Packard's sudden 15-point break near the close of Wednesday's market, and unprepared for the tidal wave of selling.

Confusion spread to the high-priced market favorites when Radio, after opening at 312, unchanged, dropped like a stone to 293, the lowest on the move, and rebounded in a few minutes to 311. Packard was pushed down 6 points to 145, recovering to 150 and Chrysler, after a dip to 115, sold above 120. U. S. Steel broke to below 152, and General Motors dipped to 153, a little lower than in last week's break.

The stock market was decidedly a confused and mixed-up affair, with neither the long nor the short side a safe bet for more than a few minutes at a time. The big steam rollers of the pools and professional traders flatten out the market one moment, only to see it revive like a blown-up balloon in the next. When stocks jump around over a range of 30 points to gain a 1-point lead, it is hardly a safe place for the small trader. Wall Street brokerage houses sent out cards today, naming a 40 per cent minimum margin and refusing to buy any stocks under $20 a share except for cash outright—no margins.

served fruits and other products, help to minimize "kitchen slavery."

PARAGUAY and Bolivia think they want to fight, because a boundary dispute killed 25 men. The remedy suggested is to start a war and kill 25,000 more men.

This war threat comes at an awkward time, when the Kellogg treaty is presented to the senate as a "sure cure" for war.

THE difficult thing is to keep from fighting those that want to fight. Big countries like the United States MIGHT, but WON'T say to the little countries: "If you fight we shall send men in airplanes and shoot you." That would only be adding more shooting to the world's trouble. Besides, we haven't got the airplanes. Bolivia, asked to accept arbitration, says: "No, I won't." What can you do about that?

"RECOVERY is brisk," were the words from Wall Street Tuesday, when the ticker stopped ticking, and the worried speculators took their heads back home, feeling better. In a country so rich, it is hard for the bears to scare even the most foolish bulls thoroughly.

SOONER or later, of course, the gamblers learn their lesson. But with any kind of sound judgment, to keep apart from mere speculation, investment in American securities is the best in the world.

MR. AXELL HYLES, head of the Tidewater Associated Oil company, at a cheerful dinner in New York's Metropolitan Club with his friends, Paul Shoup and Herbert Fleischacker, from California, talked cheerfully about the oil situation.

He believes that big oil men have decided, at least, that it doesn't pay to waste oil resources in throat-cutting competition. There is no suggestion of any hard-and-fast agreement among producers or exporters, but there are indications of dawning common sense.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has denounced the wasting of oil resources. Herbert Hoover may find a plan to protect the oil industry.

Reckless exportation at the lowest possible prices, benefiting foreigners and depleting our oil reserves, might certainly be regulated.

SOCIALISTS of the country discovered with grief and surprise that their presidential candidate, Norman Thomas, polled only 300,000 votes, against more than 15,000,000 for Gov. Smith and 22,000,000 for Herbert Hoover.

Debs, in 1912, got nearly 900,000 votes.

HOWEVER, Socialists need not be downcast. Their candidate had a hard time, running against prosperity, 7,000,000 Coolidge plurality, the "Wet-Dry" question, etc. When people are as busy as that, they haven't time to think about Socialism.

MORE worry for the criminal. The steamship Aquitania, 600 miles at sea, received by wireless photographs from Davenport, England.

Hereafter a criminal leaving his country under an assumed name, may have his picture broadcast to every ship at sea.

EATON MURDER CASE Baffles

Detective Slater Covers Trail in Double Tragedy.

EATON, O., Dec. 13.—Detective Ora Slater and Sheriff Leo Davidson of Preble county were mysteriously missing here today. Believed to be on some secret mission in their investigation of the double Silver murder. They were reported to have quietly left the city yesterday afternoon during the funeral services for Dr. and Mrs. Horatio Z. Silver, who were brutally shot down by alleged burglars in the bedroom of their home early Saturday morning.

A more strict enforcement of the laws and a more careful compliance with the laws regardless of how unpopular they may be were demanded by the Rev. V. E. Busler during his funeral sermon in St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church. The church and parsonage were packed and more than 2,000 persons crowded the street and joining, unable to gain admission.

The Rev. Mr. Busler also assailed citizens who made it a practice to dodge jury duty and the handling of protection afforded criminals, regardless of the solemn rites he was performing.

Border War Near

Dec. 13.—While President-elect Herbert Hoover, on his goodwill tour of South America, has remained strictly aloof and silent upon the territorial quarrel between Bolivia and Paraguay, the circumstances, as they exist today, may result in the possibility of Mr. Hoover becoming a peaceful mediator in event the United States government decides to offer its good offices for intervention.

As Mr. Hoover is making his goodwill visit as a private citizen, this fact would enable him to act without directly involving the high office to which he has been elected. So far, since the cessation of diplomatic relations between Bolivia and Paraguay, he has filled the role of silent spectator.

The fact that the League of Nations, acting upon representations from Paraguay, has, to some extent, intervened, brings about an unprecedented situation in the Americas which may induce Washington to take direct action.

Not since the outbreak of the World war have the South American diplomats been called upon to wrestle with such dangerous problems as those involved in the dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay over the future nationality of the Grand Chaco district, lying between the two republics.

O.C. GRAY, CADIZ, CHOSEN OHIO HOUSE SPEAKER

Arthur Hamilton, Le-bannon, Named Floor Leader.

SIMS DEM CHOICE Maynard and Robinson Also Retain Their Posts.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13.—State Representative O. C. Gray, Cadiz, and Arthur Hamilton, Lebanon, Republicans, today awaited formal ratification of their selection as speaker and majority floor leader, respectively, of the Ohio house of representatives. They were chosen for these positions at the caucus of the Republican house members here late yesterday, subject to the concurrence of the house when it meets its organization shortly after the state legislature convenes here on Monday, January 7.

Representative O. L. Sims, Fairfield county, was chosen minority floor leader at a caucus of the 11 Democratic members of the house.

Gray was speaker of the house during the last session. It has been 65 years since a member of the Ohio house of representatives served two consecutive terms as speaker. In 1863, Representative J. R. Hubbell, Delta house county, was chosen to serve a session after serving in that capacity during the preceding session, it was stated.

Gray is entering upon his fourth consecutive term as a house member and Hamilton was re-elected last month to his second term. Hamilton is a brother of Appellate Judge Francis M. Hamilton, Cincinnati.

House Aides Selected.

All except two of the 122 Republican members of the house attended the caucus which decided upon the retention of John F. Maynard, Columbus, as house clerk, and Dr. Alfred Robinson, Columbus, as sergeant-at-arms. The C. O. P. caucus, also, selected the following assistants to Maynard and Robinson: Edward W. Hughes, Columbus; deputy clerk and parliamentarian; Holmes H. Kress, Bellefontaine, journal clerk; Fred A. Palmer, Dayton, message clerk; Joseph Bayler, Cleveland, engrossing clerk; Effie V. Gregg, Malta, enrolling clerk; Ella M. Scriven, Cuyahoga Falls, recording clerk; Samuel M. Fletcher, Lima, first assistant sergeant-at-arms; J. M. McAllister, Marysville, second assistant sergeant-at-arms; and Thomas L. Calvert, Selma, Clark county, third assistant sergeant-at-arms.

PROPOSE SALARY BOOST FOR MILLS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The legislative machinery of congress faced another shutdown pending a decision by the senate on a proposal to hand a $2,000 salary increase to Oden W. Mills, millionaire under-secretary of the treasury.

The increase, not asked by Mills but written into the treasury appropriation bill, tied up the senate for two hours yesterday, blocked all action on the bill and led to lengthy debate. Opponents of the increase predicted to-day that Mills would still be drawing $10,000—instead of the $12,000 asked—when the bill is finally enacted.

URICHVILLE, O., Dec. 13.—Max C. Roth, Uhrichville, today is national secretary of the Daughters of America. Roth will fill the unexpired term of his wife.

DENVER NOTES MAJOR QUAKE

Earth Tremors are Recorded at Regis College.

DENVER, Dec. 13.—A major earthquake shock was recorded here yesterday afternoon, according to the Rev. Father W. A. Forestall of Regis college here today.

The quake started at 2:11 p. m. yesterday afternoon, reached its maximum at 2:19, and ended at 2:52, with a total duration of 45 minutes. It was located by Father Forestall at approximately three to four thousand miles to the south or southeast of Denver, most likely not on the American continent.

The prince, who is the youngest son of the king, and who has been on a round-the-world claiming trip, will be compelled to take rather meagre accommodations on the Berengaria. Because of a full sailing list officials of the line are unable to provide him with anything better than one-half of the ship's second suite.

KILLS BROTHER, ENDS OWN LIFE

Double Tragedy Ends 13-year Feud Over Romance.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Robert Rickard, 39, shot and killed his brother, Willard, 32, and then committed suicide by taking poison early today in the Rickard home in Whitestone, a suburb, according to police. Members of the family said a quarrel of long standing between the brothers culminated this morning when Willard switched on the electric lights when Robert was trying to sleep.

A sister said that the enmity between the brothers began 13 years ago when Robert broke up a romance between the younger brother and a girl.

OHIOAN FINDS HIS WIFE DEAD

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13.—Returning to his home after work last night, Jacob Gressle found his wife, Mrs. Katherine Gressle, 50, lying dead on the floor of their kitchen, he told Coroner Murphy today, who pronounced death due to heart disease. She is believed to have suffered the attack shortly after arising yesterday morning as she was still attired in a night gown. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

FIND CHARRED BODY OF MAN

Cincinnati Authorities Probe Barbecue Stand Murder.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 13.—A new murder mystery faces Cincinnati police today, following the discovery of a charred body of a man believed to have been about 22 years of age in the ruins of a barbecue stand near here last night.

According to Coroner Frederick C. Swing, the man was killed and his body brought to the stand which was then set afire. Indications are that some inflammable liquid was poured over the body, on the walls and floor of the little structure, in an attempt to insure complete destruction of the place and its occupants.

The body was so badly burned that identification will be possible only by the teeth. The barbecue stand is within 300 feet of Cincinnati's latest "bootleg killing."

"FLU" SUSPENDS PITT CLASSES

Carnegie Tech Also Closes Because of Disease.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—The university of Pittsburgh suspended classes today until Jan. 2, as a precaution against the epidemic of influenza now sweeping the country. Dr. George H. Clapp, president of the board of trustees, announced.

Action by the university board followed the announcement made yesterday that Carnegie Tech had closed classes on account of the illness among students and faculty members.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Nationally and concerted efforts to check the epidemic of influenza now sweeping eastward across the country were considered today at a special meeting of officials of the United States Public Health Service. The service is flooded with thousands of inquiries from state officials and physicians concerning preventive and curative remedies.

Although the epidemic admittedly is serious and widespread, officials took a somewhat optimistic view of the situation because of the lack of virulence that accompanies the present sweep of the disease.

Switch Engine Kills Supervisor.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Dec. 13.—R. E. Childers, 51, is dead here today the result of being run down by a switch engine in the C. & O. railroad yards. He was lubrication supervisor for the western division of the C. & O.

WARNS CONGRESS AGAINST "FLU"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Congress was warned to guard against the "flu" today.

Commander George W. Calver, U. S. N., physician to the house, posted a notice to all members to take precautions, even though he said the "flu" has touched Washington only lightly.

This chief warning was not to "fight it off" but to go to bed at the first sign of the ailment.

BLAST WRECKS CHICAGO CAFE

"Racketeer" Also Shot Down in Beer War.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Another bomb of terrific force, believed due to a beer war, exploded here today in an exclusive residential section and shattered Dell's Winter Club cafe. The blast broke windows within a radius of a mile and partly wrecked the cafe. When police attempted to question the proprietor, James Skeeland, he told them he had obtained an injunction and didn't care to have police bothering with his troubles.

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Charles Fox, 27, of Kansas City, who said he was in the alcohol "racket" between Chicago and Kansas City, was shot four times and left for dead on the sidewalk here today.

Fox, rushed to a hospital cot, told detectives he was shot by three men, one a casual acquaintance, who "took him for a ride."

Fox said he met a man known only as "Hymie" and after discussing the "racket" in friendly terms, the man asked him if he cared to go to a cafe. There they met two more men, also in the "racket," according to Fox, and then the men said they would drive him home.

Suddenly one of the men produced a revolver and pressed it against Fox's side.

WORK EXPLAINS SINCLAIR OIL PACT RENEWAL

Salt Creek Royalty Agreement Up in West Inquiry.

HELD ILLEGAL Investigate "Fitness" of Cabinet Place Appointee.

BY WM. K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Hubert Work, Republican national chairman and former secretary of the interior, today explained to the senate public lands committee his handling of the renewal of Harry F. Sinclair's Salt Creek royalty oil contract.

Work said the renewal was approved by the solicitor of the interior department, by the commissioner of the general land office and by the director of the geological survey. It subsequently was held illegal by the department of justice and cancelled by Works successor, Roy O. West.

The inquiry is being held to determine West's "fitness" to serve in the cabinet.

Billy Sunday's Sermon

"Go ahead, America, and continue to pile up wealth while forgetting loyalty to God—and the demands of faith in His Son which He requires for salvation," he shouted. He predicted that calamity would follow the present tendency of forgetting God and neglecting the suggested means of salvation.

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning

Miss Florence Kinney and Alfred Peterson spoke to children in the McKinley school and at 1 p. m. in the Garfield school.

Miss Kinney spent today in the high school building where, utilizing a room, she, from time to time, spoke to contingents of pupils visiting her.

After Discourse.

God's various efforts to restore man to the standard of a perfect man along the lines in which he was created were outlined by Billy Sunday in his discourse yesterday afternoon. His text was taken from Acts 4:12—

"Neither is there salvation in any other name."

Salvation he defined as the escape from sin and the guarantee of a place in heaven, the process and the subsequent restoration of man made for the whole state of his initialty created being.

"God," he said, "made man perfect." He was not an experiment. Both the spirit and the body of man were involved in the fall when man sinned. To be saved therefore was to restore him to his former state. He declared that God chose to lengthen the salvation plan so that men would realize that salvation was by grace and not by works.

"After sin entered the world by man's disobedience in eating of the fruit God first attempted the restoration of man by the test of obedience by sacrifice. This failed when Cain brought fruits of the field for the purpose rather than the lamb used by Abel which was acceptable. Man had continued in sin. God decided to do away with the world and by water destroyed all in it save Noah and his family through whom He made a fresh start."

"Then to the descendants of Abraham, a nation made up of slaves transformed practically in a night into a nation, He gave the written law."

If this were obeyed, salvation would follow and they as the heaven would bring righteousness unto all of the nations of the earth. They rendered but partial obedience. They fell into the sins of adultery and idolatry, marrying the women of nations about them, assimilating their customs and lack of religion.

"Prophets inveighed against their sins. The tribes were finally divided in their continued loyalty to idols and the forces of evil. Eventually the ten tribes were taken into captivity by the Assyrians and have disappeared from the face of the earth. The two remaining tribes known as Judah carried on for some years with some good kings only to be captured by Babylon."

Accept Christ, He Urges.

"At the resurrection the redeemed body of the saved will unite with the redeemed spirit. It will thus stand a complete body, restored to its initial state when created and before man fell by sin."

"The kingdom of God is within every man and woman who accepts Christ. The sin of America, the sin of East Liverpool and the sin of some of you listening to me is that you have not and do not accept Him. There is no truth in the oft-repeated assertion 'the fatherhood of God' for though God created every one He is Father only to those who accept Him through His Son, Christ."

The dominant note of the Lord's prayer is 'thy kingdom come.' And when God dwells in the human heart His will be done on earth as it is in heaven."

He referred to the failure of Evangelist Sprout in Pittsburgh. "He should not have built such a large tabernacle for he is not well enough known," he observed. "But the fact stands out that people will let religious departures fall even though there is 52 percent more wealth in the country now than before the world war. You do not hear of any theaters failing. God will assuredly take away the prosperity of people who have so little concern for the manifest plan of God to restore man to his original prestige."

God has tried man with the tests of the forbidden fruit, the sacrificial lamb and the law and now it is the acceptance of Christ. It is the last plan. Before He is established as King many things are to happen. Nations are to be converted, the Jews returned to Jerusalem, the judgment, the raising of the dead and the second coming of Christ.

He explained that the saved have already been judged at the cross since they have accepted Christ; the sinners are yet to be judged when Christ comes. Then the redeemed are to reign with Him. Man restored will find the earth also restored, its brambles, briars and irregularities all gone, for then it will blossom as the rose. "The world's greatest time is yet to come; also its greatest calamities. The Battle of Armageddon is yet to be fought when with 200,000,000 engaged 100,000,000 will meet their end in 13 months."

Hits Modernism.

The prophets indicated the coming of Christ as the final means of salvation. Paul showed that by the failure of the law works were not sufficient for salvation; neither will philanthropy or charity suffice. The only way is by faith in Jesus Christ.

"Jesus Christ came to reveal God," he averred. "It makes me so hot to hear of preachers denying the divinity of Christ and then preaching of the love of God. They destroy by their belief the only rational evidence of love in the world. And that is modernism in a nutshell."

He showed how God's love had fed the Israelites in the wilderness, but notwithstanding the people continued in adultery and idolatry. They did not want to do what God wanted them to do. Jesus wanted men to realize that God is love. That individuals and nations combating God constantly would be brought to a realization of Him through adversity and illness or by storms and calamities was his declaration.

Man thus was bought with a price and to make his restoration possible some one must act as the substitute in the sacrifice for sin. Christ in His death did this, meeting the demands of salvation. Thus He was presented making necessary only belief in Him to merit salvation which included that for both the body and the spirit.

"When you accept Christ you are changed, born again and the spirit is delivered. The body, however, is still under the sentence of death because of sin. The spirit groans within while a warfare follows between the two. The spirit is redeemed with the man becoming a Christian; the body must await the resurrection. Death steps in between the salvation of the soul and the resurrection."

"Your redeemed spirit dwells in your redeemed body until death comes which fact caused Paul to observe 'The good I would I do not and the evil I would not that I do.'"

With death the spirit of man goes to the body adapted to the heavenly state where it will be conscious of bliss, if saved or, of pain, if lost. It will be a state of partial salvation.

Rev. R. M. Davis Sings.

"And despite all these facts men now as formerly are rejecting Christ. You have them doing so right at this time in East Liverpool. Think of people who may be members of Christian, Presbyterian, Nazarene, Lutheran or Episcopal churches who must face the judgment and be asked whether in this revival in this city they aided in bringing some soul into the kingdom of God. Man cannot be compelled to love God, but you can if attracted by Him. There is no other name by which salvation can be brought about."

"All power has been given Jesus to conquer evil; He will ultimately destroy the devil in bringing about the universality of His kingdom."

The invocation in the afternoon was made by the Rev. W. H. MacCandless, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church. The business announcement was made by the Rev.

Ray M. Davis, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Chester, W. Va.

The Rev. Mr. Davis also sang, with Homer Rodeheaver, "He Gave Himself," Paul Beckwith accompanying them. Then the latter two combined in a trombone solo, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

China, Colombia, French Oceania and Honduras are among the countries that have bought American airplanes this year.

FOUR YEARS OF ANGUISH ENDED BY NEW KONJOLA

Cincinnati Lady Tells What A Blessing This New Medicine Proved to Her.

MRS. LILLIAN LOGSTON.

Wonderful are the blessings in new and glorious health that Konjola brings to those who tried all else in vain. This master medicine seems at the very apex of its powers in stubborn cases, as proved by the remarkable experience of Mrs. Lillian Logston, 1311 Dowman avenue, Cincinnati. She says:

"For four years I suffered agonies with stomach trouble, rheumatism and neuritis. Every day was filled with pain. Along with my other ills I had terrible headaches, and was highly nervous; almost a wreck. Knife-like pains pierced my back and legs. I could not stand to put my feet on the floor. Every medicine and every treatment failed, and I had about given up hope, when I heard of Konjola. This marvelous medicine, which had given my sister health some months before, completely restored me. Gone are the terrible rheumatism and neuritis. My digestion is fine, my kidneys are normal, and I can feel new health and strength surging over me daily. To our dying day my sister and I will rejoice that Konjola saved us, and we recommend this master medicine with all our heart and soul."

Konjola is sold in East Liverpool, O., at Carnahan drug store, and by all the best druggists in this city and vicinity.

TRIO IS FINED IN RURAL RAID

Assessed $400 Each After Bayard Liquor Haul.

Pleading guilty to charges of manufacturing intoxicating liquor, Morris Burns, Nick Moncho and Dominick Castello were fined $400 and costs each by Justice W. L. Helm, East Rochester, yesterday following their arrest, near Bayard, by state prohibition inspectors.

The raiders confiscated 450 gallons of moonshine whiskey, 14,850 gallons of mash, three 50-gallon stills, 600 pounds of sugar and 10,000 labels bearing the legend, "Canadian Beer." The raid was made at a farm house, overlooking the Lincoln highway, between Bayard and East Rochester said to have been occupied by the men.

The plant, according to the state agents, was one of the largest ever found in eastern Ohio. The state agents were accompanied by Constable Lester Stoffer, East Rochester, and a number of deputies who were sworn in to assist in the raid after the search warrant had been obtained from Justice Helm.

The officers destroyed the stills, emptied the liquor and rendered the mash useless. Special equipment used in testing the alcoholic content of the liquor was shipped to Columbus.

Two of the stills were located in the basement while a third was found in the dining room of the farm house. They were fired with coke.

EXPLAINS JUMP IN SCHOOL TAX

Supt. S. E. Daw Points to Valuation Drop as Cause.

Explaining the addition of two mills to the public schools' share of the new tax rate, Superintendent S. E. Daw has pointed out to board of education members here the shrinkage of more than one million dollars in the city's property valuation as the basic cause.

Inasmuch as there is no fixed rate for sinking fund levies, the rate naturally shifts, as the situation demands. When property valuation shrinks, Superintendent Daw points out, the rate logically increases in order to keep income compatible with expenditure.

Property valuation shrinkage meant a deficit of $7,892.53 for the local school district, according to figures submitted by the superintendent, at the old rate. As a result, the county auditor, in making up his new budgets, added two mills to the city's tax rate for school purposes.

MISSIONARY UNITS COMBINE

The officers are: President, Mrs. L. C. Moberg; vice president, Mrs. O. H. Mann; secretary, Mrs. Helen Cooper; treasurer, Mrs. R. D. Ferrell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wilbert Urie; secretary to pastor and press correspondent, Mrs. Lowary; pianist, Mrs. Earl Ward.

Mrs. Moberg will be hostess to the society at its January meeting, which will be held in the parsonage. She will be aided by Mrs. Wilbert Urie and Mrs. O. H. Mann.

FRIENDLY CIRCLE CLUB TO MEET

BILLY SUNDAY HITTING TARGET

Some think they are properly dressed if they affect clothing that appears to have been purchased in a rummage sale.

When you want spiritual advice you should go to a minister and not to a bootlegger or an infidel.

In God's word I know that I am a sinner and that God loves me.

To live contrary to the law of God is sin.

I feel that I lack the power of speech when I contemplate what God has done for me by saving me.

Unless America in her prosperity repents certain calamity will befall her.

You can not build a home that will be able to keep out trouble and sorrow.

You are on your way to the graveyard; you momentarily dejected when you came to the tabernacle to hear me preach.

The longing of every human heart is for peace, comfort and rest.

Give a man a billion dollars and he would want the earth.

Even a person about to suicide has a hope that his act will place him beyond remorse and gloom.

In my opinion no suicide carried out the pact without being in an abnormal condition by reason of worry or trouble.

You may be so close to hell that you can smell the sulphur and still miss arriving in hell by repentance.

You may be so close to heaven that you can hear the angels sing and still finally arrive in hell.

It does not matter how I feel I am still the husband of Mrs. Sunday; and no matter how she feels she is my wife. So it does not count how I feel to be saved for religion is not feeling but believing in Christ.

All power is given to Jesus to conquer all evil; He will destroy the devil.

Under the power of sin we have departed from God; Jesus brings us back by belief in Him.

God made a perfect creature; he is not an experiment or a trial product. The commandments are a series of prohibitions; the Sermon on the Mount has a positive side telling us what to do.

The Israelites had a right to return to Canaan, their own land, which during their stay in Egypt had been seized by other nations.

The Bible was good enough for George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Why should it not be good enough for some of those men and women who hold themselves as of superior mentality?

The Israelites, demanding a king, were not rejecting Samuel but God and He knew it.

When I accept Jesus Christ the kingdom of God is in me.

It is the duty of every one to "seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness" and then all the needful things will be added unto us.

MOTHER OF TEN GETS LIFE ON LIQUOR CHARGE

The judge follows that course. Under this plan Mrs. Miller would be sentenced immediately.

Pierce said he is more likely to bring new information charging Mrs. Miller specifically as a habitual criminal. There might be a separate trial and sentence delayed.

Ohio Warden Raps Michigan Law.

CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 13.—"Anybody who advocates a law such as Michigan has which means a life sentence for fourth offenders of the prohibition law, had better ask himself whether he has taken four drinks of whiskey since prohibition became a law."

This was the answer Warden P. E. Thomas of Ohio state penitentiary, gave questioners at a meeting here at which Thomas spoke. Among other statements made by the warden which excited comment were: "I feel safer in prison mingling with the hardest criminals, than I do on the street where some thug might knock my ears off" and "any one who thinks Ohio penitentiary is a 'nice' place just because prisoners have half a dozen motion picture shows a year is all wrong."

Michigan Woman is Convicted of Fourth Violation.

PROTESTS MADE

Appeal for Pardon

Carried to Governor Green.

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 13.—Etta Miller, 43, mother of ten children, is in jail here today, awaiting sentence of life imprisonment, while state-wide protests against her fate gathered momentum and appeal for her pardon were carried to Gov. Fred W. Green. Under the new criminal code the life sentence is mandatory and Judge Charles B. Collingwood is required to impose such sentence on Mrs. Miller after her conviction yesterday on a fourth violation of the prohibition law.

She is the first woman to receive a life sentence under the new code. She has never been convicted of any crime except selling or delivering liquor. The total of her three previous sentences was less than 14 months. Good behavior cut this time to less than a year, most of which was served in the Ingham county jail.

Delivers Two Pints of Gin.

Her fourth conviction here yesterday was for delivering two pints of gin. A jury of 10 men and two women found her guilty after deliberating three hours. The first ballot stood three to three for conviction, but the three who balked at the life sentence held out against the majority only a short time.

Whether Mrs. Miller will be sentenced today or next week depends on the technical procedure adopted by Bernard Pierce, prosecuting attorney. If he asks Judge Collingwood to impose the life sentence for the fourth offense itself, the code requires that this afternoon in the New Cumberland Methodist Episcopal church. Burial was made in the New Cumberland cemetery.

Quartet to Give Concert.

Double male quartet of the Chester Board of Trade will give a concert at the Hebron church, near Clinton, Pa., Friday evening, December 21.

Plan Christmas Entertainment.

Annual Christmas entertainment will be given in the First United Presbyterian church on Thursday night, December 20, according to an announcement made today by the Rev. Ray M. Davis.

High Court Mentor Cuts Squad For Pre-Holiday Contests

Lighter Golf Ball Forecast

U. S. G. A. May Approve Project at Next Meeting.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Having been told that nobody wanted the larger and lighter golf ball, the United States Golf association natural is proceeding to see that everybody gets it and is making such progress that the project is very likely to become official at the annual meeting January 5. This is known in some circles as the cod liver oil method. Nobody wants cod liver oil; nobody wants the lighter ball. That's why they get it. Both are very good for you, according to the golf association.

The writer naturally is taking in too much territory in attempting to speak for everybody on this question. Men like Jones are indifferent to innovations. They know that they will be able to play golf if you give them a toy balloon to hit and an ostrich plume with which to hit it. It is the sap golfer to whom the proposed legislation is violently objectionable. It will deprive him of the great American right of lying about his drive.

What really will happen is that we will have two types of ball: The official or tournament ball and the old jackrabbit. This means that when you come into the locker room breathless with the news that you cracked 103, with a fighting 8 on the last hole, the cynics will sneer openly and inquire:

"What ball did you use?"

Anyhow, the golf association says that it is doing everything for the best and is understood to quote the following as benefits that will accrue:

1.—It will save golf clubs money on upkeep and construction, since the so-called "marathon course" will pass with the coming of the less lively ball.

2.—The shorter course will be a great boon to the older generation whose arteries harden loudly as they labor over the present route, greatly disturbing those who are in the act of sighting 8-inch putts.

3.—It will bring the brassie and spoon back to tournament play; also the long iron to the green, one of the most difficult shots to control.

Under the new order, a championship course will vary in length from 6,000 to 6,200 yards, it is said. Only a few reputable "houses" will be designated to make the official ball and the firm of Blatz, Blatz, Blatz and Blatz simply need not apply. It will be too busy turning out the "bootleg" or high pressure ball for the saps, anyhow.

In any case, the proposed new ball will not be ready for play until 1931. It is understood, because it will take that long for the manufacturers to install new molds and complete their tests.

These details may look the part of assumption or presumption. They really are neither. I am informed that all that is necessary to carry the legislation through is for the executive committee to approve the recommendation of the ball and implement committee, which approval is almost inevitable.

Bishops Earn Holiday by Win Over Buckeyes

Detrick Urges Squad to Devote Time to Study.

DELAWARE, Ohio, Dec. 13.—Although his Ohio Wesleyan basketball team has just put in the best winning game with Ohio State, Coach Ray Detrick is giving his men a complete layoff this week so that they may put full time on their studies.

"Put in lots of over-time on your books this week and then report for practice next Monday," the Bishop court mentor has told the players.

The holiday was declared by Detrick for three reasons. He wants every man to be up in his class work and eligible for second semester competition. Three members of his first team were in the football team and have had little rest since the grid season began. The third reason for the vacation this week is that Detrick was well pleased with his team in its 36 to 29 victory over Ohio State. It was the Bishops' first cage win over State since 1921.

Floyd Siegenthaler, center on the team, and John "Red" Halliday and Francis Thomas, guards, are the three who no sooner turned in their football togs than they were handed basketball uniforms. Siegenthaler entered the State game with a bad ankle sustained in the final football game with Wittenberg but nevertheless he was an important factor in the State victory. None of the three had a chance to practice basketball until a week before the State game but each played in mid-season form.

The Wesleyan quintet will not see action again until it plays Cedarville college at Cedarville December 21, and St. Xavier at Cincinnati, December 22.

HOPE TO PATCH BIG THREE BREAK

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 13.—Hopes for a mending of the disrupted "big three" were seen here today as the result of the plea in the Yale Daily News by James C. "Red" Barrett, captain-elect of the Harvard eleven, for a renewal of athletic relations with Princeton.

Barrett previously had aroused more enthusiasm at Cambridge than any other game, with the exception of the Yale clash, and voiced a hope that some way would be found to bring about a resumption of relations.

Rush Brothers Bid for Berths On Bison Five

"Mal" Sure of Forward Job; Art is Pivot Man.

BETHANY, W. Va., Dec. 13.—When the varsity cage team representing Fairmont Teachers College takes the floor on the Irving gymnasium here January ninth against the Bethany college quintet, the Teachers will oppose a fighting Bison machine. This is easily ascertained from a glimpse at any of the daily workouts being staged here under the tutelage of Furman L. Nuss, the Bethanian court mentor, who has ten men with college varsity experience striving to earn regular berths.

Captain Kenneth Baker, Warwood, W. Va., and Malcolm Rush, Hanoverton, O., continue to hold sway far in the lead over all of the forward candidates. Floyd Chambers, Bethany, W. Va., James P. Nald, Ulrichsville, O., and Ralph Burkey, Conneville, Pa., are starting a desperate fight for these positions but find it a hard task to try and dethrone the above regulars of last year's team.

Peyton Telfair, Wilmington, O., giant Bison center, is holding down the regular center berth but is being pressed for this position by Arthur Rush, Hanoverton, O., brother of Malcolm Rush, regular forward. Guy Lackey, New Castle, Pa., John Wyle, Canton, Pa., and Edward Green, Owosso, Mich., are the remaining candidates for the center job who are breaking in the regular seasons.

Arthur Markley, Washington, Pa., and Ballard Darschroder, Elmore, O., look like the best of the guard candidates. Both are members of last year's varsity, which makes it difficult for Wayne Jenkins, Wilmington, O., and Jack Hamill, Wheeling, W. Va., to break in regular regardless of the clever game the latter pair present daily.

State Counts On Lisbon Boy In Track Work

Points are Expected From Dan Tritten in Shot-put.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13.—Among the most promising available candidates for the 1929 track team at Ohio State university is Dan Tritten, of Lisbon, veteran shot-putter of the Buckeye aggregation, according to an announcement made recently by Coach Frank Sattleman.

Tritten is being depended upon to aid in carrying Ohio State to victory by displaying his shot-putting ability in the many meets scheduled for the team this year.

Tritten and other candidates for the track squad are now practicing for the opening meet of the indoor season which will be held early in 1929.

The Lisbon athlete has been a member of the Buckeye team for the past two years. He is now a senior and is studying in the college of commerce and administration.

Judge Landis To Decide on Ten-Man Team

Owners of Two Leagues to Discuss Plan Today.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Undaunted by the American leagues' informal rejection of John A. Heydler's ten-man ball team proposal, the National league club owners are still strongly in favor of the innovation suggested by their president and will discuss the scheme with the moguls of the junior circuit in Chicago today. Final decision in the matter probably will be made by commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis.

Many fans and ball players here joined the National league owners in extolling the virtues of the radical change. They pointed out that it would do away with the strategy of walking dangerous batters to get at a weak hitting pitcher, a practice considered objectionable by the fans. And they declared that under the scheme pitching battles would not be broken up prematurely by the removal of one hurler for a pinch hitter, with the yanked boxman's successor quickly being nicked for the winning run.

Furthermore, such famous old-timers as "Moose" McCormick, the greatest pinch-hitter of his day, declared that a pinch-hitter used three or four times a game could compile a much better batting average than under present conditions.

Practically all National league players who have passed their peak are heartily in favor of the idea. For it will mean, if adopted, that veterans now deemed not sprightly enough for regular service will be able to stay in the big leagues for nobody knows how many years.

Under present conditions a vet with wobbly pins can't hang on for long because a club can't afford to carry a player who pinch hits only once a game. But under the proposed change, any old-timer who can deliver base hits will be eligible for a regular job even though his arm and legs are gone beyond repair.

Potter Fans Interested in Ohio-Indiana

Larkins, McConville May Meet on Rival Squads.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 13.—October 26, 1929, has more of a meaning than just another day to two East Liverpool youths who are now seeking recognition on different collegiate gridiron battlefields.

Just another day to some, but to Richard "Dick" Larkins and Charles "Chuck" McConville, it is designated as the moment when old friends will meet as rivals and enemies.

It will be the day of the annual revival of football rivalry between Ohio State university eleven and the grid squad of Indiana university. The scene will be the Ohio Stadium.

Personal friendship will halt for a time when Larkins, clad in the Scarlet and Gray of the Buckeye aggregation, takes his place on the line opposite McConville and his squad of invading Hoosiers.

The situation will be in strange contrast to the days when Larkins and McConville battled side by side for the honor and glory of East Liverpool during their high school careers. On that day, affection for each other, built up through contacts in boyhood and while attempting to carry the fame of East Liverpool to a greater height, will be replaced by the duty each must show for their respective Alma Maters.

Reports from Bloomington, Ind., indicate that McConville is regarded as a promising candidate for one of the backfield berths on the 1929 Hoosier team. The youth, entering the university as a freshman this fall, was a member of the frosh varsity eleven in the past season. Further detailed reports reveal that McConville will gain his place on the Indiana team by his dazzling pass-work and fleet running shown against the varsity squad this season.

Following a remarkable season, Larkins should have but little trouble in winning back his place at tackle on the Ohio State eleven next year. The East Liverpool athlete played in every game in which Ohio State participated this year and was classed as one of the first team regulars.

"Dick" and "Chuck" were teammates on the 1924 East Liverpool high school team. Larkins at that time was a sophomore and McConville a senior.

Larkins believes McConville one of the best passers he has ever seen play in a football game. "Chuck" would be an assets to any football team," stated "Dick" when he was interviewed here recently. "He has been known to pass a distance of 50 yards and his passes are straight and in bullet fashion."

"Dick" is the younger of the two, being 19 years of age. McConville, who is studying coaching at Indiana, is 22 years of age.

A new style of coke train on the German Government railways requires the upkeep of 80 sets of wheels, 160 bearings, 160 springs, 80 bumpers and 40 couplings.

"Tarzan" On Valley Program

Joe Poole is Matched With Massillon Boxer.

"Tarzan" Joe Poole, Lawrenceville, Pa., light heavyweight protege of the Zivic brothers, Pete and Jack, will be one of the featured glove gladiators on the Valley A. C. boxing program a week from tonight in the city hall arena at Wellsville.

Poole was given his first ring opportunity by Matchmaker Ray Foutts, who also bequeathed the Pennsylvania title with that "Tarzan" cognomen. Foutts saw the big boy working out and decided that his great strength and peculiar antics should be given significant expression. He billed him as "Tarzan."

Poole, appearing in Wellsville for the first showing, which was against Eddie Rose of East Liverpool, saw one of the advance bills and observed that he had acquired a new "handle."

"Say, what's that mean?" he asked one of his pugilistic sponsors.

"Well, you see," his informant endeavored to break the news as easily as possible, "it means big, strong — you know, lion of the jungles!"

"Oh," observed Poole. He contorted a while and then, as the movies say, came the dawn.

"Is that so? Well, listen, fellah, I'm no monkey!"

At any rate neither of his two opponents have been able to make a monkey out of him yet and the Zivics believe that if the form he has shown thus far is indicative of future possibilities, Poole may yet get somewhere.

Poole, in his coming fight, takes on a boy from Massillon who has had some experience in the game. Foutts told Pete Zivic, who has been sort of looking after Poole's affairs, that the Massillon lad is just as tough as "Tarzan" himself.

"That's all right," said Zivic. "Get him some one like that. If he can't take some of these boys now he can't have much hope of getting any place."

TUSCARAWAN IS MOUNT STAR

DANNY MYERS

ALLIANCE, Dec. 13.—No one member of the Mount Union college basketball five was more disappointed when Wittenberg cancelled the game scheduled for Dover Friday night than was Danny Myers, the Mount forward.

Myers hails from Shanesville and as captain of the Shanesville-Sugar Creek high school quintet for the two years when that team held the class "B" basketball championship of Tuscarawas county, had gained a reputation in the vicinity of Dover for his clever playing. He had also played between 18 and 20 tournament games on the Dover court where Mount and Wittenberg were to meet.

"Danny" saw in the Dover game an opportunity to play before his home folks in a game of collegiate basketball. Now his only remark is "It was too good to be true."

KENYON OPENS WITH ASHLAND

GAMBIER, O., Dec. 13.—With the opening game of the court season only two days off, when Ashland meets Kenyon at Gambier, Coach E. G. Evans has been driving his men through long sessions every afternoon.

The line-up against Ashland on Saturday, Dec. 15th, will probably be: Evans and Baltzell or Roe at forward, Lyman at center, Robinson and Hall at guards.

The schedule:

Potters Drill for Lid-Lifter

"No Jobs Cinched" is Coach's Warning.

A final cut, prior to the holidays, in one of the largest basketball squads ever to turn out for practice here will be made by Coach Joe Hurst this afternoon in order to whip a representative team into shape for the opening games of the campaign, Dec. 21 and 22, with Rochester, Pa., and the Alumni, respectively.

As a result, an aggregation of basketballers, that originally numbered 80 will be reduced to 22, out of which Hurst expects to get his varsity and reserve performers.

This reduction in forces, however, does not necessarily mean that any candidate who has been temporarily dropped is out of the running.

"Any player from the class teams or other squads that shows more stuff than someone on the varsity or the reserve outfits will be given the call at any time during the season," Hurst declared today. "There are no jobs cinched on these teams."

The Blue and White mentor indicated that the weeding out process and the selection of players for both the varsity and the reserve squads will not be easy in view of the ability shown by most of the boys.

The list of 22 players who will constitute the squad until after the holidays probably will be posted by the coach tonight. After school reconvenes, however, Hurst expects to inspect all of his material again.

Feb. 14—Wooster at Gambier.

Feb. 16—St. Xavier at Cincinnati.

Feb. 19—Capital at Columbus.

Feb. 23—Otterbein at Westerville.

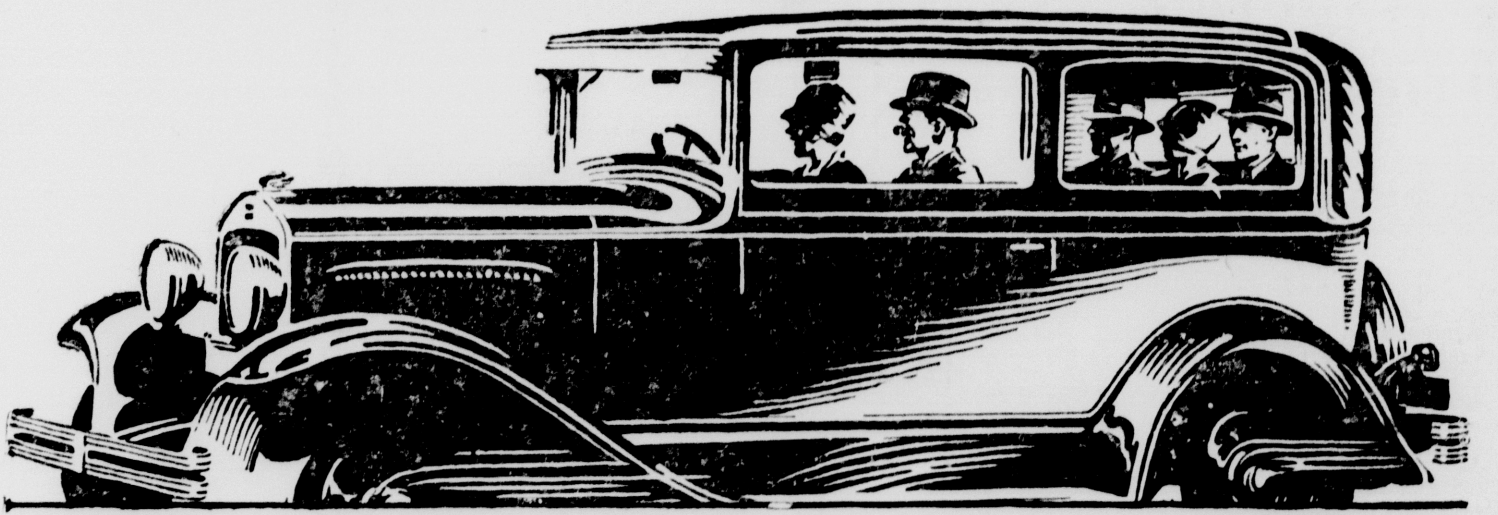

Mar. 1—Marietta at Gambier.

Mar. 8—Mt. Union at Gambier.

PLYMOUTH... Still the biggest dollar value in the lowest-priced field

Full-Size and Comfort—Plymouth is actually the only full-size car in its price field, offering generous head room, leg room and elbow room for five adult passengers.

Marked Economy—Modern, high-compression, 4-cylinder, I-head engine gives marked economy of operation and upkeep. Longer engine life assured by exclusive torque reaction neutralizer, rubber engine mountings. Modern positive pressure feed oiling system.

Hydraulic Brakes—Chrysler light-action internal-expanding hydraulic weather-proof four-wheel brakes are used by Plymouth—a feature possessed by no other car near its price.

Impressive Power—45 h.p. engine gives characteristic Chrysler power, speed and acceleration coupled with unbelievable smoothness of operation. Speed with greater safety due to larger crankshaft bearings, inherent balance and general ruggedness of construction.

WHEN all is said and done the greatest value a motor car can hand back to the buyer for his dollars is the comfort he gets out of every minute and every mile of driving and riding.

This greater degree of hour-by-hour, day-by-day and month-by-month comfort depends first upon that certainty of performance which Chrysler engineering has always given—and gives in superlative measure in the Plymouth.

But it also depends upon the riding and driving proportions of the car—the ease and restfulness of the seats and springs, but above all the size, which in Plymouth enables everyone of the five passengers to relax and stretch without being cramped.

Plymouth owners appreciate further the safety of hydraulic internal-expanding weather-proof 4-wheel brakes which give instant and always positive stopping in any weather.

In action, the Chrysler-built Plymouth is a gem of soft, velvety roadability with a modern, scientific power plant such as you can always count upon from Chrysler engineers.

And a model of economy—not merely in gas and oil mileage of its simple, sturdy, 4-cylinder, I-head engine, but in freedom from complications and a strong simplicity of parts which holds the upkeep costs down to a minimum throughout the year.

Give yourself the enjoyment of half an hour behind the Plymouth wheel today.

Thrilling story of love of two girls for the same man

By HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Mrs. Haines saw him first. "Crystal—that man—he—he—Crystal!"

Avery bowed, with great politeness, sweeping the floor with his greasy black hat. "Sorry if I alarmed you, lady. I'm the carpenter. I braced the shelf for you, Miss Gorraty, and, er... fixed everything up."

"The carpenter—at night?" Mrs. Haines cried. "Crystal this man is no carpenter. Don't let him go—I'll call the landlord!"

"Oh Mama—shut up!" Crystal shouted. "You've done enough damage for one day. You don't know how things are in this city. They have a carpenter right here in the building. You can get him any time. That's all for tonight, Tony, but you can come in tomorrow and look at the refrigerator!"

Tony—alias Avery, didn't budge.

"That's all I said!"

"A dollar and a half for the shelf," he said, grinning, and the $12.50 for the window seat and bookcases I made last month. That makes an even $20. I'd like to get it tonight, lady. I got my rent to pay."

Crystal could have choked him with her bare hands. "You'll have to come back tomorrow!" she said angrily. "Now get out, can't you see I have no time for you?"

Adelina opened the black bag, took out a twenty dollar bill. "If you owe this man," she began.

Crystal took it savagely, and almost threw it at Avery. "There—get out!"

"Thank you kindly, lady!"

"He didn't receipt the bill," Mrs. Haines said when he had gone. "And Crystal, you have to call to talk that way, he seemed real refined for a carpenter. You ain't yourself here. You better come back home with Mama. We'll get Abby to hire a good cook, and you can have the living room every night. Abby goes to bed early now. And we'll invite Ralph, and—"

Crystal, at the end of her resources, laid her head in her mother's lap and wept.

"There, there," Adelina comforted. She patted her daughter's golden head. But she was thinking of Daphne. Busy, craftily laying her plans. Plans that would bring Ralph to Crystal, make him hers forever, and soon.

CHAPTER 38.

It was a hard day, the hardest Daphne had ever experienced. The whole office was in a turmoil, because old Mr. Greely was on the rampage. He sat in his dark paneled private office, with his feet on the desk and growled out instructions that kept everybody running from dignified Mr. Sanderson to the office boy.

Daphne took shorthand at speed that almost paralyzed her fingers. Typed telegrams with little beads of sweat on her upper lip, and Mr. Greely bawling from his office door, "Isn't that wire ready yet? Send it in when it's ready!"

In the midst of it, Miss Yardley, whose desk was in the outer office came in to announce a lady to see Daphne.

"A lady?" Daphne hesitated. "Why I don't know who it could be, and I can't come now. If I leave this Mr. Greely will be furious. Will you tell her to leave the message?"

"All right," Miss Yardley agreed. "She wouldn't give her name though. She's middle-aged and blowy looking."

Miss Viola, Daphne decided, though why Viola should call on her in the office...

"Those letters ready yet?" Mr. Greely bellowed, and Miss Yardley fled.

Before the day was over, Daphne had completely forgotten the visitor. The war came once again in the afternoon, but Barney, the office boy, told her severely. She left Mr. Greely's secretary could not be disturbed. She left a note with him, but in the excitement no one remembered it until the next day.

"It's worse than I've ever seen him," Miss Yardley told Daphne while they snatched a hasty sandwich at a soda fountain at noon. "Last time he was on the war path it was when he had an attack of rheumatism. He hasn't been complaining has he, Miss Haines?"

"Hasn't said anything to me."

"Well then it's probably just one of his tantrums. This trouble with McKevitt maybe. But you ought to see him when he gets rheumatic. He's awfully funny. He thinks he's going to die you know, and he works hard enough to kill any other man, getting his affairs in order and he goes to church—the Greelys are awfully High Church you know—of course Greely isn't except when he's sick—but his sister is. A girl I know goes to St. John's, where his sister goes, and she says it's a scream to see him come clumping up the aisle when he has one of those fits on, right up to a front pew, and he does it for about three Sundays running, and then when he's well again, he never goes back until the next attack. He always tears up his will, too, and makes a new one. I'll bet McKevitt is left out of this one."

Daphne was glad when she had finished her sandwich, and could get away from the talkative Miss Yardley. All these allusions to McKevitt, and trouble frightened her. She had come to love the old man too, and it hurt that he should be laughed at, even in so friendly a way.

Five o'clock came, and six, and she was still at her desk, though everyone else had gone, but Greely.

Just as she was covering her typewriter Allan Winters came in, unannounced. Daphne mumbled some sort of greeting, and he returned it, as unintelligibly. They had been shy with each other almost hostile since the day at the old man's cottage. She hardly glanced at him as he slouched through the room hands in his pockets, and disappeared in Greely's private office. "For such a shy looking young man he has his nerve," she thought, a little resentfully. "Nobody else would burst in on Mr. Greely like that. I hope he throws him out, that's what I hope!"

He came dashing back a moment later, "Miss Haines, will you come? I think he's had a stroke—he's all slumped down in his chair—"

"Oh!" Daphne cried, and with one leap she was inside the office, rubbing his hands, trying to make him comfortable, issuing impossible instructions to Allan, while he telephoned for a doctor and a taxi.

Just a few minutes ago he was the big boss on the warpath, shouting, swearing and bawling on the table, and now he was so pitifully old and helpless. Daphne held his listless head against her shoulder, stroking his thick gray hair, staring into his face, stern and hawk-like still, for some sign of consciousness.

"Oh why doesn't the doctor come? Isn't there something that we could be doing, Allan? Allan—ring him again. Call another doctor—"

The doctor came at last, a pompous little moving little man who refused to be hurried.

"A heart attack," he said comfortably, as if heart attacks, and old Mr. Greely collapsed in his chair, were nothing in the least to worry about.

When they were ready to take the old man home they told Daphne she need not wait, but somehow or other she was in the taxi, helping to support him when they started. He was conscious now, and gave her a prodigious wink when the cab stopped in front of the big, old-fashioned house that occupied a two hundred foot frontage on Van Ness Avenue, almost the last of its enfolded and by windowed kind, still holding its ground against the crush of automobile row. "Terrible inconvenience," Sister Anne said, he mumbled twinkling under the bushy brows. And with another parting grin for Allan he let them lead him upstairs.

Daphne had a last look at him clump-clumping up the stairs with the taxi man on one side, and a manservant on the other, and the pompous little doctor backed into a corner, besieged with questions by the flustered Sister Anne.

"A heart attack doctor? Dear, dear, now he'll be laid up again, and such a patient, and the diocesan convention right on me, and my week to entertain the Guild, dear, dear—it he'd only take care of himself—"

The door closed Allan and Daphne were out on the steps. "Mrs. Colby isn't thinking of a single thing but herself!" she cried bitterly, "I think it's a shame!"

"That's life," he answered coldly, and the glimpse that she had of his face, hard and cynical in the falling light, chilled her.

It wasn't so bad for old Mr. Greely to be cynical. Mr. Greely was old, and sick. But Allan Winters? Young, and with wonderful friends, like Ralph. "Thanks for helping," she said quickly. "I'm going to leave you here. I can take the Van Ness car—"

FOUND GUILTY IN MAN'S DEATH

Raymond Van Fossan Awaits Sentence for Manslaughter.

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 12.—Raymond Van Fossan, Beaver Falls, was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of Thomas Stork, Beaver Falls, on October 15, by a jury in court here yesterday. Sentence will be passed later.

Van Fossan pleaded self-defense. The state offered testimony to show that Stork had called the police on the telephone and notified them that he feared for his life from Van Fossan. And that, after the shooting, Van Fossan fled from the town. It was admitted, however, that Van Fossan later returned and gave himself up to the police.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 12.—Trapped in the flaming wreckage of an automobile, Lauri Ollila, 31, was burned to death last night, and John Randa, 23, was today held for questioning by Sheriff Ed Rasmussen, of Lake county.

Ollila and Randa were both from Fairport. Randa was driving the car when it crashed with an automobile occupied by two Cleveland women, near Willoughby, east of here, late last night. The car occupied by the Fairport men turned over twice and caught fire.

Randa escaped but Ollila was pinned under the wreckage. The horn of the car was blown several times, according to witnesses, and the trapped man was apparently trying to attract attention.

The two women in the other car, Miss Ruth Ball and Mrs. H. H. White, both of Cleveland, were injured, but not seriously.
